upon the teenagers in the community. Dr. Holliday says that the rise and social acceptance of witchcraft in America has caused progressive interest and involvement in the occult and capturing millions spiritual slaves. Also she says, “Witchcraft and Satanic worship, coupled with human sacrifices is widespread and happening now!”

The effect of the witch’s spell was explosive and devastating, almost completely destroying her life. Mrs. Lamb explains that her ordeal started when, Della, a witch told her that she practiced "white witchcraft." I really felt sorry for her. Of course, I did not believe in witches.

Rita says, “I believed that the witch, Della just had a mental problem or was delusional. Imagine her thinking that I would believe that she was a white witch. Why ~ there are no such things as witches, I thought, except maybe in fairy stories like The Wizard of Oz or, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. I thought that that she had envisioned powers that did not really exist. She told me that she could do many supernatural things. I thought, Well, poor thing, she's in her fifties, perhaps going through the menopause. I really did not believe that there could be real witches. It was a fictional, just imagination, nonsensicality stupid . . . Then, I discovered reality of her evil power and its source, because it almost cost me my family and life. Supernatural powers are real and unbelief does not protect a person from them." Rita continued her testimony. She gave me many objects, books with her name and hex sign on them. Her hex sign was a five-pointed star with a snake twisted around the bottom point, and flying owl at the top. It was only later, after I was healed, when the Lord led me to clean these things out of my home, that I realized how much she had filtered into my house. She even sent things in through my children.”

The Lamb family soon discovered that the witchcraft curse placed against Rita was working. She was completely invaded, body, mind and spirit with demons sent by a practicing witch who was using Voodooism. Her story will amaze and shock you.

Rita said, “one particular thing that she brought me when I was in the hospital was a talisman (a small amulet, or charm used to carry curse powers). The talisman was made of beads. These beads were made in the image of a little purple snowman with two little, rolling eyes. I really did get worse after she brought me that thing. She gave my son, John a little round medal with a breastplate on it and snake curled around it that had written on it: 'This, we will defend.' It was also a talisman. She cursed the medal and gave it to him on his eighteenth birthday and that's when he started to change so drastically." Think about this. Rita, her daughter and her son were placed under curses by the white witch. Her children became cold and rebellious and she was mentally unstable and crippled. She fall into a deep sleep for weeks and could speak many different languages. You will discover her surprising - dramatic healing and deliverance.
